

Style and power

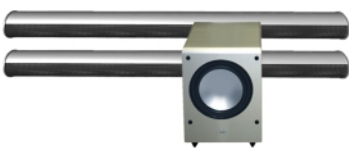

With the advent of the flat panel TV's of today, there came the need for different kind of speakers than we were used of for so many years. Speakers, which can match the design of today's homes, with minimalistic visual impact, but yet stylish enough. But the question was, can that kind of speakers also match high sound criterias of many movie buffs, who would like "invisible sound solution", but who are not ready to compromise the sound quality, neither would like to spend a fortune. Well, System Fidelity series 500 certainly can!

Extremely stylish, with a thin, elegant cylindrical cabinet, the series 500 speakers incorporates top quality units with cleverly designed crossover, and are the perfect match to any flat panel display.

They certainly belongs to a group of speakers, which one should hear it, to believe it!

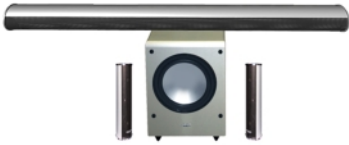

The series 500 is consisted of several speaker sets and small but powerful active subwoofer, which can fulfill almost every need for inexpensive but yet powerful stereo or surround setup with excellent sound capabilities.
